

ABSTRACT

A flying head slider includes a first air bearing having plural step-faces and being prepared on a base surface at air inflow side, and a second air bearing being prepared on the base surface at air outflow side. The upper most surface
5 of the second air bearing is lower than the upper most surface of the first air bearing.